ADVERTISING RATES ON APPLICATION

Chipley, Fla. July 31st 1897

Within the last five years Florida has gained 630 per cent. in the value of her agricultural property. What merchant or capitalist has done better than the farmer?

If the miners are tired of work could not their places be filled from the rank of the disappointed ple hunters still lingering around Washington because they can't get away?

The Florida Star says there will be a test case to settle the difference between Judge Jones and Attorney-General Lamar as to the meaning of the fish law. We suggest that a jury of school teachers be impaneled and the dictionary accepted as umpire with the grammar at the bat.—Ex.

The Orlando Star says: Nine candidates are already announced for Senator Pasco's place. No doubt there are others who would be willing to accept the Senatorship. Altogether there will be a variety of choice of course, Mr. Call will be a candidate. This State wouldn't recognize itself, if it held a Senatorial election without Call.

It is reported that Secretary of State John Sherman will retire from the cabinet in the fall on account of the condition of his health. In the meantime, the president is no doubt looking around for another man who can successfully dodge the Japanese minister and write saucy notes to England.

During the recent earthquake, a colored parson was praying in a southwest Georgia revival meeting. He said: O, Lawd, come down and shake dese niggers up! Lawd ketch hold er dem an shake em 'twell dey boiles!' Just then the earth trembled, the building rocked and the kerosene lamp tipped over and was shattered on the floor. The parson lifted his eyes to the ceiling and continued: "Dar, Lawd; dat'll do now. Dis ere buildin' is mighty shacklin'!"—Ex.

Not Wanted in Florida.

The Orlando Reporter, referring to the rumor that some large land owner in West Florida had offered the manager of Debs' socialist colony scheme a tract of 450,000 acres of land in Washington, Jackson, Holmes and Walton counties, aptly remarks: "Florida wants no such scheme of half-brained men tried within her borders. We can outlive freezes, epidemics, etc., but defend us from Debsism."

The Tariff Bill Now a Law.

Vote 40 to 30, Washington, D. C., July 24. The Dingley tariff bill is the law of the land. The step necessary was taken at the White House when the president affixed his signature at 4:04 o'clock today. It had been arranged that the president should go to the capital to perform that function, but owing to uncertainty as to the time that the bill would be ready, that plan was abandoned.

The members of the cabinet who were in Washington, came to the White House about 2:30 o'clock and assembled with the president in the cabinet room. A few minutes before 4, Representative Dingley appeared, accompanied by Representative Hager, chairman of the house committee on enrolled bills.

They were admitted at once into the presence of Mr. McKinley. The latter was sitting quietly at the long cabinet table with Secretary Gage and Attorney General McKenna on one side and Postmaster-General Gary and Secretary Wilson on the other. He rose and greeted Mr. Dingley and Mr. Hager cordially.

The president had several pens at hand, the owners of which had begged they might be used to sign the bill, but Mr. Dingley unexpectedly taking a case from his pocket, produced a mother of pearl handled pen, dainty enough for a lady's use, and requested that it be used for the signature. The president recognized the right of Mr. Dingley, tho' he laughingly commented on the diminutive size of the pen. He then appended his signature to the bill, asked the date and wrote "July 24th, approved," and the bill was an act.

How Englishmen See It.

London, July 24.—A pessimistic view is taken by the Spectator of the conditions likely to develop under the new American tariff. It says:

"Never before has the complete domination of the trusts over the Republican party been made so palpable to the average man. Congress has been ordered to protect the trusts and has obeyed. We find protection-tripped off its old pretensions and excuses. It is reduced to a bare mercenary aspect. It means the enabling of wealthy corporations to levy tribute upon the masses and to use the powers of the Government to enhance piles that are already enormous. We believe that with a just cause behind them the United States might safely defy all the machinations of hostile Europe, but in an aggressive policy dictated by selfish pecuniary interests, it must be said plainly that the United States runs a serious risk of collision; and how fatal that might be to all the highest interests of mankind is abundantly clear. We trust that all wise, right minded Americans will sound a warning against this bill. If the alternative for the Republic is to be on the hand of a policy of jingoism and on the other a policy of crude confiscation, then a very serious crisis for order, freedom, and rational self government will have served us."

Mr. Thomas J. Morgan is making a lecturing tour, and here is an extract from his speech in Chicago:

"Why, instead of fighting for a few more dollars in wages, should not the miners fight for the possession of the mines themselves? But all the police force, the militia and the standing army are back of the claims of the operators of the mines. If the working people would exercise the power they have under the elective franchise, they could have all this power of government back of them. That is what socialism means."

Now the man who flings such a firebrand into the powder about us commits a crime against good morals and sound policy even if the arm of the law cannot touch him. Thinking men know that our whole social system is built upon the rights here attacked—to grant these postulates is to dissolve our present civilization into chaos, and to break down every bar that now restrains the lawless the greedy and unprincipled. Law will be unnecessary when man becomes perfect—can a better system be devised for the government of sinful men than that we now enjoy?

But such talk misleads the ignorant and unthinking; shall they be punished while the teacher escapes? Shall we be taught that only tyrannical power keep some poor, while others are rich. Shall industry, capacity, strength and learning be deprived of their reward and sink down to a level with laziness, ignorance and weakness of body and mind?

How shall we reward the best except by allowing it the value it commands in the open market? What more can labor expect than the price it receives as against competition, and as fixed by the demand and supply, as all other things are? What better scale can be devised? What other reward can be offered that will not enslave the producer.

Whatever theoretical opinions may be the fact remains that he who advocates socialism as now understood preaches revolution. Whatever be the faults of our social system, it is certain that it is the best ever founded for the guidance of sinful man, and the proof that it is outworn will be furnished when the fact is shown that all laws are exactly observed—not when all law is denounced or when attempts are made to evade or abrogate it. Law will become unnecessary when no longer one man attempts to injure another—then indeed, we may see the need for a political evangel too high for Jefferson to draw, and too good for Washington to approve.—Citizen.

Happiness and Debs

Debs has published the constitution of his "Social Democracy," and in it he revises our Declaration of Independence when he says "we hold that all men are born free and are endowed with certain natural rights, among which are life, liberty, happiness."

The revision will not stand. Jefferson says man has a right to the "pursuit of happiness"—that is, if government can guarantee it. Debs says he has "happiness" in the garden of Eden—he had periods of unhappiness, doubtless millions of years before he met Eve. Can Debs give him a better paradise than was his before the woman and the serpent appeared?

No man can be born so "free" that he is not under the dominion and subject to the penalties of the law. He was told "of the fruit of the tree thou shalt not eat," and when he transgressed the law he was put out to work. If Debs can free us from the original penalty he might begin his work under better auspices than those which now confront him until he does, few will believe in the paradise of his imagination. Citizen.

"The Foot of a Fly" says an eminent English doctor, "will carry enough poison to infect a household." In summer-time, more especially, disease germs fill the air, multitudes are infected, fall ill, die; multitudes escape. These messengers of mischief do not rest for millions. Why not? Because they are healthy and strong—protected as a crocodile is against gunshot. It is the weak, the wasted, the thin-blooded who fall; those who have no resistive power so that a sudden cough or cold develops into a grave disease. We hear of catching disease! Why not catch health? We can do it by always maintaining our healthy weight.

Scott's Emulsion.

of Cod-liver Oil, is condensed nourishment; food for the building up of the system to resist the attacks of disease. It should be taken in reasonable doses all summer long by all those whose weight is below the standard of health. If you are losing ground, try a bottle now.
